Vienna, July 2.

SEveral Expreſſes are arrived from Hungary, with the news of the Defeat of a very conſiderable Body of Turks near Vaccia; of which you will have the Particulars from Lintz. There are Letters from Gratz, which ſay, that General Leſlie advancing with 6000 Germans and 12000 Croats to the Bridge of Eſſecke, had taken the Fort at the Head of it, and had afterwards ſet Fire to the Bridge in ſeveral places, of which we muſt expect the Confirmation. From Upper-Hungary we have advice, that the Caſtle of Ungwar is very cloſely beſieged by the Rebels. From Cracow they write that the King of Poland intended to part from Jawarow the 25th of the laſt month, to go and put himſelf at the head of his Army, which was in the mean time marching under the command of the Crown General.

Lintz, July 4. The ſecond Inſtant arrived here from Hungary Count Charles de Lamberg, being ſent by the Duke of Lorrain, to give the Emperor an account of the defeat of a great Body of Turks, who had poſted themſelves near Vaccia to cover that place, of which we have the following Relation. The Imperial Army having repaſſed the Danube near Gran on the 20. and 21. of the laſt month, they ſtaid two or three days in the Neighborhood of that place, expecting the Regiments that were on their march from Sileſia, where they had wintered, to joyn the Army, and then marched towards Vaccia to attack that place and Novigrad; That the Duke of Lorrain receiving advice that the Enemy were poſted near Vaccia, he reſolved to fight them, and advanced accordingly; That the Chriſtians having on the 27th with ſome trouble paſſed the Defiles of Marots, they ſaw the Enemy ſtanding in Batallia on the Hills near Vaccia, having the Danube and a great Morals on their left, and a Wood on their right; The Duke of Lorrain made what haſt he could to put the Army into Batallia, which having done about 11 a Clock, they marched in two Lines, beſides the Reſerve and the Troops appointed to take care of the Baggage, towards the Enemy, who ſuffered them to advance without any oppoſition, till they came on the Hill; but then with great fury and their uſual cryes charged them, beginning with the Regiment of Taff, which was almoſt in the middle of the firſt Line, where the Duke of Lorrain was in Perſon, whoſe Horſe was wounded, and thoſe of two Officers near him killed with Piſtol Shot; but the Turks having ſpent their firſt Fury, and obſerving the firmneſs of the Chriſtians, turned their backs, though they quickly rallyed and charged the Chriſtians on all ſides, and then wheeling off again, returned a third time to the charge, but the Chriſtians ſtill advancing upon them without breaking their order, the Enemy fell into confuſion, and being ſeized with fear, the Horſe abandoned the Foot and fled; And the Imperial Cavalry of the firſt Line purſued them above an hour; but by reaſon of the ſwiftneſs of the Enemies Horſes, the Chriſtians quickly loſt the ſight of them. This Body conſiſted of about 20000 men of their beſt Troops, commanded by the Viſier of Buda and ſeveral Baſſa's under him; There were among them 4000 Tartars; moſt of their Foot were ſlain, and thoſe that eſcaped got into Vaccia, which the Imperialiſts afterwards made themſelves Maſters of, the Turks that were in it ſurrendring on diſcretion; in all, it's calculated about 3000 of the Enemy were killed, and 1500 taken Priſoners, with ſeven Pieces of Cannon and ſeveral Standards; The Viſier of Buda is ſuppoſed to be killed, his Horſe having been taken by a Soldier of the Regiment of Taff, who preſented it to the Duke of Lorrain; and among the Priſoners there are, it's ſaid, a Baſſa and ten Aga's; The loſs of the Chriſtians is very inconſiderable, this Victory having coſt them not above 20 or 30 men. The 28th the Imperial Army continued in the Neighborhood of Vaccia, and the next day decamped and marched towards Peſt. The Emperor has ſent a Courier to the Pope with the news of this Victory, for which Te Deum was ſung here yeſterday.

Ratisbonne, July 6. On Monday laſt paſſed through this place an Expreſs, who came from Lintz, and brought the news of the defeat of 25000 Turks near Vaccia, otherwiſe called Waitzen; that 2000 Janiſaries had been killed, and as many taken Priſoners; That the Imperialiſts had loſt but 30 men; That they had taken Vaccia and were marching towards Peſt.

Bruſſels, July 11. On Sunday laſt in the Morning Monſieur de Chanlay Quarter Maſter General of the Armies of France (for whom the Mareſchal de Schomberg had two days before, by a Trumpeter he ſent hither, deſired a Paſſport) arrived here from the French Camp at Leſſines, and being conducted to Court, had Audience of the Marquis de Grana, and was afterwards entertained by his Excellency at Dinner. In the Afternoon, as likewiſe the next Morning the Council of State was aſſembled; and laſt night Monſieur de Chanlay took his leave of his Excellency, and parted from hence this Morning early. The Commiſſion he came upon is not made publick, but it's believed to have been about ſettling Contributions, and adjuſting matters in relation to a ſuſpention of Hoſtilities. Yeſterday in the Afternoon arrived here an Expreſs from Lintz, with the news of a great Victory obtained by the Duke of Lorrain againſt the Turks the 27th of the laſt month. The Particulars we have, are, That the Viſier of Buda being informed that the Imperial Army moved towards Novigrad, he marched with 20000 Turks to Vaccia, and poſted them very advantageouſly upon a riſing ground near that place, having on their left the Danube and a great Moraſs, and a great Wood on their right, and the Chriſtians being to paſs ſeveral Defiles before they could come to them; However the Duke of Lorrain continued his march, and having gained the Defiles, advanced towards the Enemy, and engaged them, but the Turkiſh Horſe ſoon fled, and the Germans cloſely purſued them, and cut off moſt of their Foot; 3000 of the Turks were killed, 1400 taken Priſoners, with many Standards and ſix pieces of Cannon; And in the heat
